

Computer Lab rules

The Snohomish School District's Student User Internet Access Release Form that you and a parent or guardian signed contains most of the rules that apply to the computer lab. In addition, specific to the Computer Labs located in the CTE (Career and Technical Education) are the following rules:

Food and Drink

Eating or drinking is not allowed in the lab at all. Food in or out of a container is not allowed in the lab – and must be stored out of sight in a book bag or the equivalent.

The exception is water in a sealed container – such as a bottle.

Book Bags

Book bags must be against the wall that the teacher has designated in the Lab. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Workstation Maintenance

You share your workstation with five other students everyday. In order to ensure that each student is able to easily follow along with instructions, all machines must remain the same. Do not make any alterations to the desktop, wallpaper, shortcuts or programs in any way. Inform the teacher immediately if your machine has been altered.

Malicious Acts

Intentional malicious actions to bypass the Snohomish School District's Network policies will result in immediate disciplinary action, up to and including suspensions, and a revocation of computer privileges.

The use of proxy servers is a deliberate attempt to bypass both the agreement you and a parent or guardian signed, as well as the Children's Internet Protection Act.

Music and Copyright Law

Check with your teacher in regards to their class rules for listening to music through the computer. It is illegal to use the machines for copying music (ripping and burning).

Observe all copyright laws in regards to music and image files.

Publishing to the World Wide Web

If you are publishing to the WWW for school you agree to the following:

No personal information, copyrighted material or content that contains inappropriate, pornographic, hateful, harassing, sexist or obscene materials.

Links to external sites must be approved by the instructor.

You may not publish for any political or commercial purposes. (ASB exceptions are allowed).

Both the student and parent/guardian are required to read the rules above, and sign the agreement below.

Return this sheet, signed, to your teacher.

I have read the rules and requirements for computer lab usage, and for publishing to the World Wide Web using equipment at Glacier Peak High School. I agree to follow/that the student will follow these rules, and any departure from the rules will result in disciplinary action which may include revocation of computer use privileges.
